

Import–Export Regulation Sample Document

This sample document is created for testing a Retrieval-Augmented Generation (RAG) application. It is not an official legal or regulatory document.

Article 1 – Purpose

These sample rules describe general procedures for importing and exporting goods for demonstration purposes.

Article 2 – Import Documentation

For customs clearance, an importer may need to provide an import declaration, a commercial invoice, a packing list, and other documents required for the specific category of goods.

Article 3 – Customs Declaration

Goods entering or leaving a country may be subject to customs declaration procedures. The responsible party should provide accurate information about the goods, including quantity, value, and classification.

Article 4 – Restricted Goods

Certain goods may be subject to additional permits, inspections, or restrictions. Importers and exporters should consult the relevant authorities and applicable regulations.

Article 5 – Record Keeping

Importers and exporters should maintain relevant transaction and customs records for the period required by applicable rules. Records may include invoices, declarations, permits, and transport documents.

Article 6 – Demonstration Questions

Example questions for testing: What documents may be required for customs clearance? What information should be included in a customs declaration? What happens when goods are restricted?
